SUNSET SAFARI
#AFRICA DREAMS

For the African Safarra, the imagination runs wild with scenes of a copper sun sinking low, painting the sky with all its glory and kissing the ancient land good night. To Safari over sunset is to watch an alternative world come to life and share in its secret splendour. As the predators and creatures of the night slowly unveil themselves in the late afternoon glow, a thrilling safari adventure unfolds.

DISCOVER MORE:

As the copper Sun and its warm orange rays fade to starlight, our sunset Safarras head out onto the African plain in the late afternoon. The time of day when the adventurers and traders of old Africa would outspan and plan their camp for the evening. From the morning chorus it prepares for the soft eerie whisper of the African night. A time of day to go in search of thirsty elephants and lazy leopards. When lions slowly begin to rous and open their eyes and frogs, crickets and nightjars save their breath for the evening symphony. Sunset Safari is a time between two worlds, the golden hour of portraits and still life's. The comedy and drama of its day begin to make way for the thrill of its night. On your Sunset Safari our guides will read off the morning storyboard and re-embellish the days events, anticipating the games next steps. It's a time of day to visually and imaginatively inspire story and tale from the bush and its wildlife.
